CEO/Founder of Dau Consulting, LLC

Jeanne C. Dau, CEO/Founder of Dau Consulting, LLC, has trained and coached thousands of individuals in leadership, management, and entrepreneurial endeavors. Her passion is to help YOU make your difference. She has more than 30 years' experience working and marketing community collaborations, nonprofits, and economic development initiatives while working for universities in Georgia, Missouri, and Illinois. Some of the differences she has helped spearhead include the creation of the following: Elevate — a business incubator and co-work space, — ClassE, CEO high school entrepreneurship classes, Camp Start-up — an entrepreneurship camp for teens, — and Eastern Illinois University's Business Solutions Center — a public/private partnership consisting of more than 30 organizations that provided business support services including coaching and training.

Her experience also includes starting four businesses in three different states, helping small businesses start and grow as the Director of the Small Business Development Center in Chillicothe, Missouri, and learning the sales and marketing ropes as Director of Marketing and Sales in the hospitality industry. She is a loyal Illini fan, receiving her BA from the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana, and her master's degree in Business Administration from William Woods University.

Jeanne has always been very involved in the communities where she lives. She has served as chair of four nonprofits and enjoys assisting businesses and nonprofits in their strategic planning. Dau currently lives in Charleston with her husband, Dean, and has two grown children and one grandchild.
